

British to American English

For each British term or expression, write down its American counterpart. Make a guess if you are unsure.

|                     |  |                    |  |
|---------------------|--|--------------------|--|
| aerial              |  | lorry              |  |
| angry               |  | mad                |  |
| anti-clockwise      |  | motorway           |  |
| barrister/solicitor |  | nappy              |  |
| biscuit             |  | naughts & crosses  |  |
| bonnet              |  | off-license        |  |
| boot                |  | pavement           |  |
| braces              |  | petrol             |  |
| car park            |  | pocket money       |  |
| caravan             |  | post               |  |
| caretaker           |  | public school      |  |
| chemist             |  | pushchair          |  |
| chips               |  | queue              |  |
| constable           |  | return (ticket)    |  |
| cooker              |  | roundabout         |  |
| crossroads          |  | rubber             |  |
| council housing     |  | rubbish            |  |
| diversion           |  | saloon             |  |
| drawing pin         |  | silencer           |  |
| dual carriageway    |  | staff (university) |  |
| dustman             |  | tap                |  |
| estate agent        |  | tea-towel          |  |
| flat                |  | term               |  |
| flyover             |  | tights             |  |
| garden              |  | timetable          |  |
| ground floor        |  | torch              |  |
| high street         |  | trainers           |  |
| holiday             |  | tube               |  |
| hoover              |  | waistcoat          |  |
| jumper              |  | wardrobe           |  |
| lift                |  | windscreen         |  |